

Controlled Groups Rules & Questionnaire

2020

COMPLIANCE & LEGAL

Overview of the IRS Controlled Group Rules and How they may Apply to YOUR Company

CONTROLLED GROUP RULES:

The Internal Revenue Code (the “Code”) includes a series of rules for controlled groups of corporations. These rules, which can be found in Code Section 414, are used for numerous purposes but they generally look to see whether multiple entities have a sufficient degree of common ownership to require that they be treated as a single entity for federal tax purposes.

CONTROLLED GROUP BASICS:

The controlled group rules, set forth at Code Section 414, generally provide that “all employees of all corporations which are members of a controlled group of corporations” and “all employees of trades or businesses (whether or not incorporated) which are under common control” are to be treated as employed by a single employer. Trades or businesses (whether or not corporations, limited liability companies, partnerships or otherwise) which meet the definition of a controlled group also are to be treated as a single “employer” under the Affordable Care Act (“ACA”).

IDENTIFICATION OF MEMBERS OF THE EMPLOYER’S “CONTROLLED GROUP” FOR PURPOSES OF BENEFIT PLANS

Many aspects of law governing employee benefit plans require employers to consider all members of the controlled group when determining if and how the law applies. To properly administer their plans, it is vital that employers identify members of their controlled group.

An employer that is directly or indirectly owned (wholly or partly) by a non-corporate entity or that is owned by an investment fund (such as private equity or venture capital) may find that its controlled group includes otherwise unrelated companies whose identities are unknown to each other. The information provided herein is intended as a general overview of the subject matter covered.

EMPLOYERS SHOULD CONSULT WITH LEGAL COUNSEL TO DETERMINE AND CONFIRM THEIR CONTROLLED GROUP STATUS.

Please note that [BAN AGENCY] is not a law firm and, therefore, cannot provide tax or legal advice. We rely on compliance guidance and support from our outside counsel and share that with our clients; however, this general guidance cannot be relied upon as tax or legal advice. Clients wishing to obtain tax or legal advice should consult directly with counsel to establish an attorney-client privilege.

© 2020 Benefit Advisors Network — This document has been prepared by Benefit Advisors Network and has been reviewed by Marathas Barrow Weatherhead Lent LLP for legal compliance. It is intended to provide general information concerning the subject matter. It should not be considered legal advice. Consult with your regular benefits attorney before utilizing the information contained in this document.

Why is it important to understand if an employer is part of a controlled group in the employee benefits world?

Because if an employer is part of a controlled group, ALL EMPLOYEES in the entire controlled group need to be considered for:

HEALTH AND WELFARE PLANS

Certain provisions in the Code prohibit discrimination in favor of highly compensated employees in health and welfare plans, including self-funded medical, group term life insurance, flexible spending arrangements and dependent care reimbursement plans. These rules generally require that members of a controlled group be treated as a single employer for purposes of satisfying required testing.

COBRA

All employees of a controlled group are counted to determine if an employer is subject to Federal COBRA rules, and COBRA liability can flow to members of a controlled group.

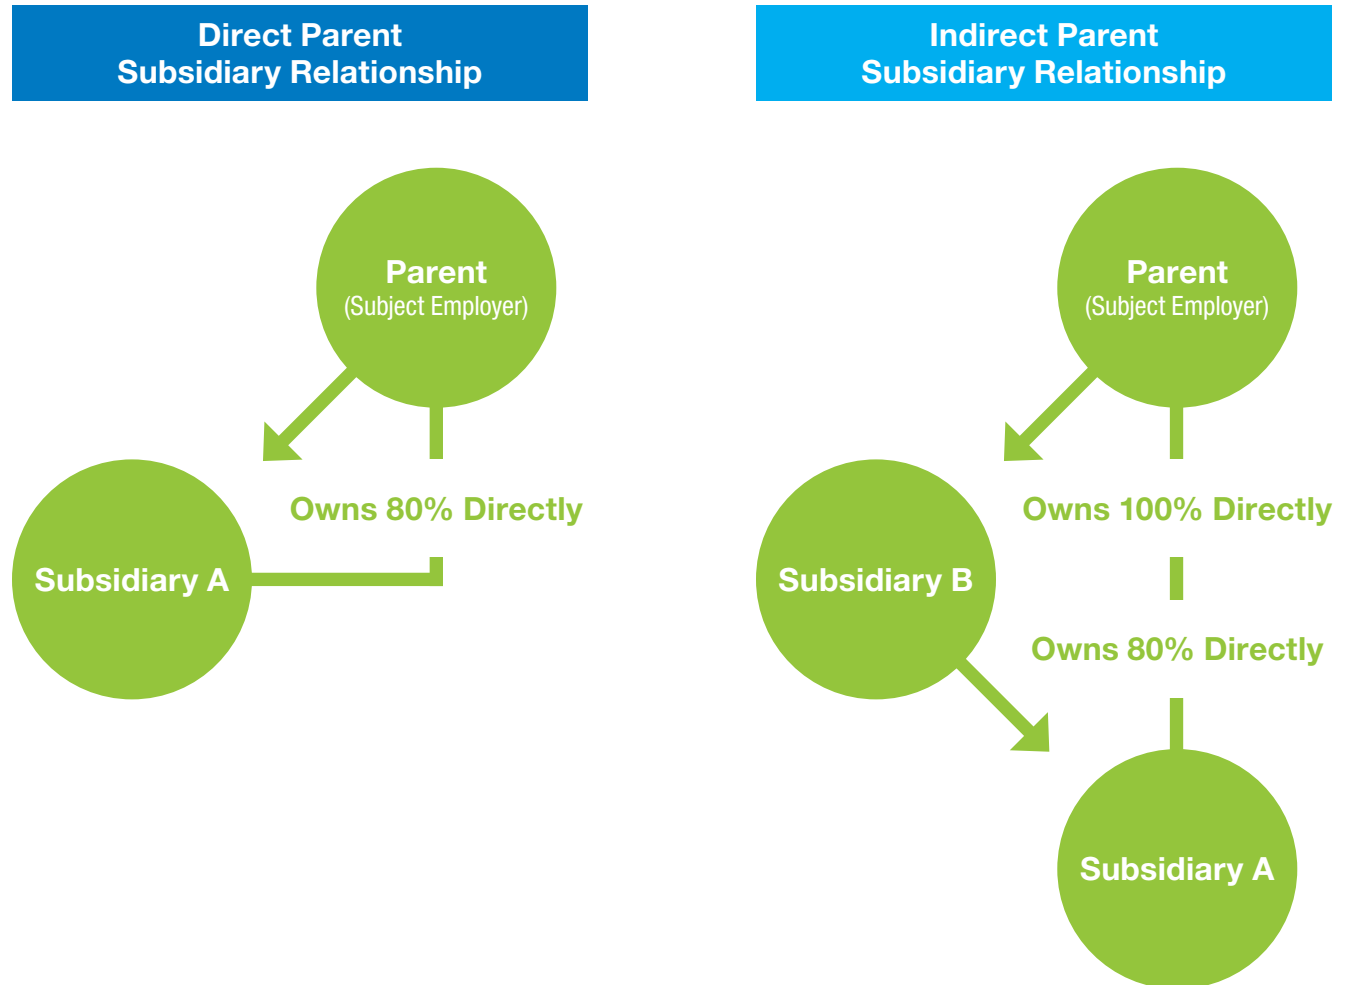

AFFORDABLE CARE ACT

The determination of whether an employer is a large employer subject to the ACA's "pay-or-play" mandate includes employees of all controlled group members. Whether an employer is subject to the employer mandate depends on its size, and that size is determined on a controlled group basis.

When counting an employer's full-time equivalent employees ("FTEs") to determine whether the pay-or-play provisions apply, the Code requires the employer to include not only its own employees, but also the employees of each member of the employer's controlled group of corporations. An employer that fails to count the FTEs of its controlled group members may erroneously determine that it is exempt from the pay-or-play provisions, creating significant risk of penalty exposure.

TYPES OF CONTROLLED GROUPS

PARENT-SUBSIDIARY CONTROLLED GROUP an entity higher up on the chain (i.e. a “parent”) owns a “controlling interest” in an entity below (i.e. a “subsidiary”).

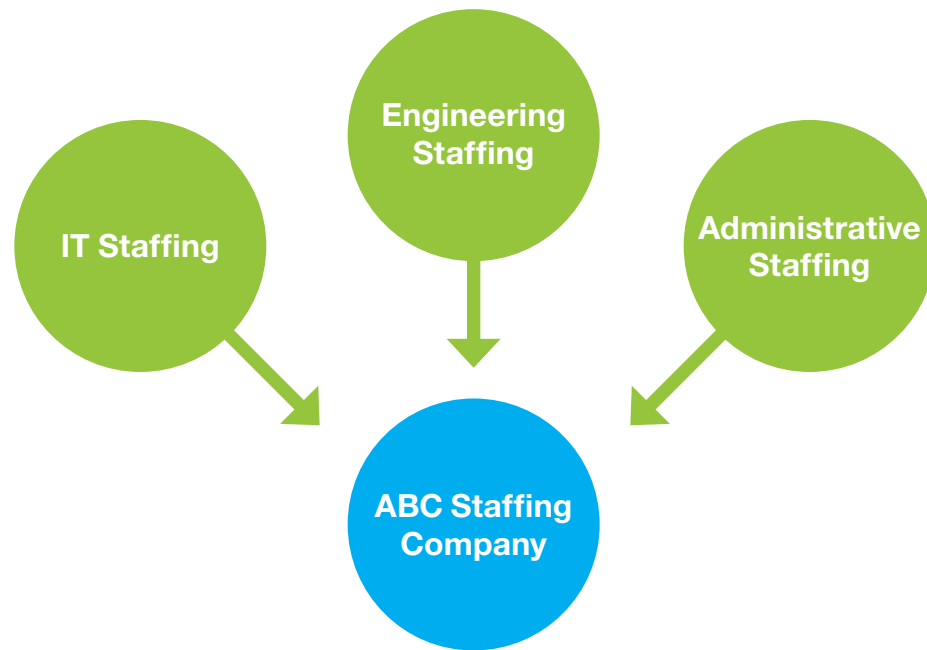

PARENT — SUBSIDIARY CONTROLLED GROUP

Consider whether your company might be part of a parent-subsidiary controlled group. Factors to consider include:

- Whether your company has any direct or indirect ownership interests in another enterprise
- Whether your company is owned directly or indirectly by one or more enterprises
- Whether your company may be owned in part by family members that may also have ownership interests in other business enterprises.

AN “AFFILIATED SERVICE GROUP” Is a group of companies that are considered part of a controlled group due to the nature of the relationship between the entities.

This is most applicable to service entities such as law firms, medical practices or management services companies with respect to investment funds. Note that due to the lower common ownership requirements for affiliated service groups, not all affiliated service groups may be able to form a single employer group health plan under ERISA, which generally requires at least 80% common ownership among participating employers.

AFFILIATED SERVICE CONTROLLED GROUP

Consider whether your company might be part of an affiliated service group. Factors to consider include:

- Whether the principal business of the company is performing, on a regular and continuing basis, management functions for other organizations
- Whether a company is receiving services from another business of the type historically performed by employees in the same business field.

BROTHER-SISTER CONTROLLED GROUP two or more trades or businesses owned by five or fewer individuals, estates, or trusts have a controlling interest (80% or more) in the trade or business and have effective control.

Effective control generally means these entities together control more than 50% of the trade or businesses but only to the extent the ownership is identical with respect to each organization.

In order for this control group relationship to be confirmed, the organizations must pass both tests (controlling interest and effective control) to be considered a Brother-Sister Controlled Group.

TEST 1

Adams and Bell ownership is shown in the following percentages

MEMBER	ADAMS, LLC	BELL, LLC
A	80%	20%
B	10%	50%
C	5%	15%
D	5%	15%
Total	100%	100%

TEST 2

Members have identical ownership in both Adams, LLC & Bell, LLC Corporations

MEMBER	EFFECTIVE %
A	20%
B	10%
C	5%
D	5%
Total	40%

Based on the results from TEST 1 (the controlling interest test), the four shareholders together own 80 percent or more of the stock of each corporation. Therefore, these organizations meet the controlling interest standard of 80% or more under the brother-sister controlled group rules.

Based on the results from TEST 2 (the effective control test), these organizations do NOT meet the effective control test of more than 50 percent because the shareholders do not own more than 50 percent of the stock of each corporation (taking into account only the identical ownership in each corporation as demonstrated above).

BROTHER — SISTER CONTROLLED GROUP

Consider whether your company might be part of a brother-sister controlled group. Factors to consider include:

- Whether a small number of persons, trusts or estates (generally less than 5) own a controlling interest in your company (especially where such persons, trusts or estates also have other business enterprises that may have employees).

CONTROLLED GROUP QUESTIONNAIRE

Does your company have any subsidiaries or affiliated entities? ☐ YES / ☐ NO

- If yes, how many (how many total EINs)? _____, if more than 1, please list EIN & full legal name of each subsidiary or affiliated entity.

- Are all entities in {insert State}? ☐ YES / ☐ NO

- If not, in which states are entities located (list entity name, state for each & EIN if different)

Have you ever had the structure reviewed by an ERISA attorney to determine whether the entities fall under common ownership and control for ERISA health and welfare benefits purposes (this impacts ACA reporting, COBRA, and ERISA, including 5500 and M-1 filings)? (This would be the same analysis done for a 401k plan.)

☐ YES / ☐ NO

- If yes, what was the determination? (If yes, you can stop questionnaire here)

If you have never had ownership reviewed by counsel, are you familiar with the ownership structure of the entities (who/which entities own them and at what %/rate)? ☐ YES / ☐ NO

- If yes, do you have a chart that breaks down the ownership level down to the percentage? ☐ YES / ☐ NO
- If yes, are you willing/able to provide us with a copy? ☐ YES / ☐ NO

Are there familial relations within the ownership (parent, grandparent, child, sibling, spouse, etc.)? ☐ YES / ☐ NO

Are any of these family members minors? ☐ YES / ☐ NO

- Please list all familial relations, the age of the individual and how they are related

Are you willing to have your ownership structure reviewed by ERISA counsel to ensure that all compliance requirements are met?

Do you have counsel available to do this in-house? ☐ YES / ☐ NO

- If not, do you have an outside firm that does ERISA work for your company? ☐ YES / ☐ NO
- Do you need a referral to an attorney? ☐ YES / ☐ NO

Please note that [BAN AGENCY] is not a law firm and, therefore, cannot provide tax or legal advice. We rely on compliance guidance and support from our outside counsel and share that with our clients; however, this general guidance cannot be relied upon as tax or legal advice. Clients wishing to obtain tax or legal advice should consult directly with counsel to establish an attorney-client privilege.

© 2020 Benefit Advisors Network — This document has been prepared by Benefit Advisors Network and has been reviewed by Marathas Barrow Weatherhead Lent LLP for legal compliance. It is intended to provide general information concerning the subject matter. It should not be considered legal advice. Consult with your regular benefits attorney before utilizing the information contained in this document.

© 2020 Marathas Barrow Weatherhead Lent LLP. All Rights Reserved. – The information provided above is not, is not intended to be, and shall not be construed to be, either the provision of legal advice or an offer to provide legal services, nor does it necessarily reflect the opinions of the agency, our lawyers or our clients. This is not legal advice. No client-lawyer relationship between you and our lawyers is or may be created by your use of this information. Rather, the content is intended as a general overview of the subject matter covered. This agency and Marathas Barrow Weatherhead Lent LLP are not obligated to provide updates on the information presented herein. Those reading this guide are encouraged to seek direct counsel on legal questions.